fidence.

Cleveland dosen't seem to restore Squaw Lil any quicker than he did con-order was a rare paper. It was rather doms in offensive wars. The commer-

We have it from a number of sources that Christmas is about to appear in its great specialty of coming once a year.

Bomb throwing would be a great deal more sensational and exciting if we had not just passed through the football

It is bad enough for Miss Tom King to appropriate horses, but in the interest of humanity she should step stealing deputy banks get it all.

Naturalists assert that the hippopotamus will become extinct within the next civilized world. twenty years and the Populist in the next six months.

his grand retreat. Answer to correspondent: Yes, there the irrigation convention in Wichita and he is still under surveilance. Dynamite is killing off as many people as whisky. The Prohibitionists

-hould see that the sale of explosives is legislated out of existence. The harrowing reality may have struck Lewelling by this time that the tramps do not read the newspapers and know absolutely nothing about his order, Rudyard Kipling says the absence of war robs men of their virility. What we want is war. As Patrick Henry, since deceased, once said: "Let 'er to business pretty soon it may become necessary to remove the protection now secorded her and let foreign laid eggs in duty free.

The only hope the sheriffs of Oklahoma now have of capturing Tom King is that she will pause in her mad ride long enough to satisfy herself that her Boston is to have a new Republican paper called the Boston Common. Murat Halstead will be the principal editorial writer. Downs, Towle & Co. will be the publishers.

The last gladiator to shy his castor into the arena for the marshalship for Kansas is Sidney J. Cooke of Herrington. His name is said by his rivals to be his biggest recommend.

Something is the matter with the law when men like Prendergast and Vaillant, the bomb thrower, will kill and maim people and then give themselves up to the police and boast of their acts.

With the near approach of the Chistmas holiday season and the dearth of demagogy. The causes leading to the tween Kansas City and Wichita, certaineggs still prevailing, the good house-wife determines to make it hot for the hens, purely commercial in character, and the and proceeds to dose their feed with red Lewelling may have been a tramp as he says. For all we know his father may have set him up in the cornfield when he was a boy for a scare crow but that is no reason why he should be governor of Kansas.

The proposed tariff bill may not affect the price of whisky, nor of sugar, this country. Our only prerogative materially, but if it is enacted the Democrats will find their party in hotter water than it has experienced for a amarter of a century.

J. D. Hill of Fort Scott is in Washingon seeking to be appointed postmaster st his town. After much trouble Mr. Hill has succeeded in getting Senator Martin to expose his appointment and he will probably get the office.

With all due consideration for Colorado, Oregon and several other restive states it must be confessed that Kansas is the only state which breeds a class of men who will kick because they can find no feathers in their angel cake.

Helen Genear, a woman with a month hat runs back to the time of John Quiney Adams, is ranting around in Chicago, in company with John P. St. They claim to be there in the ina train from headlight to rear platform, stone floor of the city building in the behests of an imperious ruler, they cannot see the splendid wave of out most of the government revenu pledge of the Democrats to repeal the 10 per cent bank tax will not be carried into effect absolutely and as originally proposed. The plan now is to make the state banks practically the same as the ernment i sue all the notes and take the same as national. This is an admission cally all of them then all signs fail. Let by the Democrats that our present national banking system is as near perfect as any that can be devised. With Reliable information from the western

IS WAR A HUMAN NECESSITY?

The history of mankind is but a ghastly stain of blood. A universal sacrince only gave way to cruel crucifixion. the red of the ancient altar to the blood of Calvary's cross. Of the two first born of this world one in cold blood slew the other. Rome ceased her domination of the centuries only when she ceased to Mrs. Lease says that Lewelling's tramp spill the blood of peoples and of kingcial supremacy of England is one of wars waged against the defenceless, and that supremacy today is yet so maintained. The Holy Land was secured to God's chosen people only through wars of extermination. Moral reformations and financial renewals no less than I olitical revolutions have come oftenest of bloodshed.

All great wars are followed by what are denominated "good times." though following the late Franco Prussian war France was compelled to pay her own enormous expenditures and to After studying the game for several France has not ceased to prosper, in an days, Chauncey Depew says he caught on to how the Monte Carlo works. The the general European war now threatened should be actually declared, financial prosperity would not only succeed to the nations involved, but to the whole Arbitration that comes of the higher law, or of exalted ideals, and through which a number of grave international Our old friend, King Lobengula, has misunderstandings have been amicably decided to surrender, but pending the adjusted since the close of the rebellion, negotiations, he is still galloping away in still seems best suited for the conditions under a promised millennium.

Certain it is that in the absence of war, its strife, blood and sacrifice of was a milkman among the delegates at human life, the crank and the fauatic with their bombs their agencies of secret destruction flourish. In the event of a general and bloody European war the voice of the prophets of Anarchy would be heard no more in the land, the Socialist would cease to organize or threaten, and nihilism would fall into innoxious desuctude. Confronted by the blood of riot the mob becomes meek and tractable and from the field of carnage, the savage soldier turns contentedly to peaceful pursuits. Whatever there is of cost and calamity, of blood and despair, in war, in its absence the wings of white winged pcace have little significance. From its grim visaged front famine flees as prosperity heaps high the lap of luxury, and the Unless the American hen gets down wail of the widow together with the memory of the dead are swallowed up in triumphant songs of victory.

If arbitration is to take the place of the blood shed of wars then must civilization adjust itself to entirely new conditions in which one-half of the public expeditures of the nations must be diverted to other channels and, in which mighty standing armies who are only consumers, be given place and opportunity as additional producers, a thing under present conditions impossible. British gold was accepted by America as an equivalent for the lives and property destroyed by the Alabama, in turn for which Canada is licensed to trample the life out of our profitable seal fisheries in which America's clear title to the Bebring sea is relinquished, but who can prove that the United States would not have been better off had these questions been settled by war instead of by arbitration, even conceding that her armies had been defeated in the conflict?

The untimely defeat of the bankruptcy toward a separate identity which nature bill is another evidence of Democratic There is no clashing of interests betirely from pelitical factions or prefer- any other point in Kansas. ences. It was enough, however, to know that it was transmitted from a could not hope to get the trade of the vast country known as southern Neb-Republican congress. That alone sent not hope to divert the trade from the it to the political headsman whose business it is to decapitate everything not branch. She does not even stop onevariety. It may be that this administration can continue this menacing attitude toward the business interests of seems to be to wait and see. The the article we copy have made Wichita, striking feature of the situation is that while our chief executive has a policy both original and aggressive, and subject to no higher influence than his own dictum, his particular efforts toward renot spoken officially in exposition to the Torrey bill, but it would be hard to convince the public that it had not the seal of his anathema, with explicit orders for its early defeat. It was the cheapest kind of demagogism to object to it, as was done on the floor of the house, on the ground that it was framed in the interest of the creditor class. That would have been cause sufficient for its pa-sage without depate by these paid emissaries of Wall street. Every fair minded man who had examined the text of the bill knew that it was framed in justice to the honest debtor.

terests of the poor. No one believes the penalty provided for that class was them. After all, when it comes to stripping age. No nation ever had, or should have such a law which did not provide both ripping the ornaments off the passengers' voluntary and involutary features. It bonnets and skinning off finger rings, remains now for thousands of enterand whooping it up generally there is no prising, industrious people to wait and train robber who can quite come up to sweat till the avalanche of debt, which they can never hope to pay with shackled hands, is legally removed by a body Surely the 2,000 men who sleep on the which has a higher motive than doing

Chicago every night must be blind that If to the inhibition of silver and wiping presperity which President Cleveland by so-called reform of the tariff, is added said was coming as soon as the uncondi- the summary defeat of a few more such | be will have to sub-let the j.b. tional repeal of the silver law was measures as this, the business men of the country will want to know what manner of slaves they are. It is speak-1; is becoming apparent that the ing conservatively to say that 90 per cent of the voters of the country were favorable to this bill. Everybody knew that. Congress knew it, hence the necessity for quick work. Political national banks; that is, to have the gov- lody in every district in the country, graves are being scooped out for somesiate tanks under its supervision the does not furnish the corp-e for pracand if the present Democratic congress us wait and see.

some slight charges in the law the part of the state indicates a much better present system will meet all the require- condition of affairs than has been anticimen s of the country, maintaining as it pated for some time. There has no does and will an absolutely safe and been as many people leaving that section elastic volume of currency, supplement- by half, as has been represented and at to the direct issues from the treasury. There is no indication that there will be than els where proportional to population. The fresh impetus that has been given the irrigation idea amounting to active undertaking along that line on the part of many farmers and land companies, has reinspired confidence and determination among the settlers to stay with the country and get their share of the benefits to come from fuller develop ment of its resources under the new order of things, There are, no doubt, great things in store for western

The statement comes from Boston that as soon as Van Alen declined the Italian mission the president offered the position to John E. Russell of that state; that Rossell declined, but was forthwith tendered the collectorship for the port of Boston, which he also declined, for the specious reason that he did not desire any position that would require him to discharge the duty of official headsmen, The real reason for Russell's repeated declinations is understood to be, however, that Cleveland refused him the position of secretary of state for which he was a candidate while Cleveland was constructing his cabinet. In a word, Mr. Russell is not yet done

Referring to General John B. Gordon's publicly uttered sentiment that the flag of the United States is "the symbol of Hope to all the fettered millions of the earth," the Charleston News and Cour-

It is the simple statement of a fact to say that the United States flag is the symbol of their subjugation to more than twelve millions of the citizens of the United States. General Gordon's 'pretty and patriotic' sentiment, therefore, is more pretty and patriotic than true.

It is but just to say of the two southrons that General Gordon was one of the bravest and best officers in the armies of the south, while the Palmetto patriot is a post bellum production.

The United States Investor, published in Boston, New York and Philadelphia, is the leading financial paper in the country. Every banker, broker, bondbuyer and money-dealer in the United States takes it. Every conceivable question may be asked and an answer will be given. Here is an answer concerning a tract of land in Kansas:

"This particular one-half section of land is considered worth, at the present low prices, at least $7,000. John W. Workman, the man owning this, lives on it and farms the place: he is a farmer and citizen, honest, upright and energetic, and is not tinged with Farmers' Alliance doctrines.

It is announced from Washington that a delegation of Republicans from Utah is at the capital, urging the admission of that territory to statehood. Their reasons for asking this are not stated, but it is probable that, despairing of the proper control of the Mormon question by the federal government, they hope for better things under a local organized government-that home government under Democratic control would be preferable to Democratic control from Washington.

NO CONFLICT OF INTERESTS.

From the Kansas City Gazette. We call the attention of our people to the remarbable screed, published in another column, from the Wichita EAGLE. It should have some influence in induc-ing the people of Kansas City, Kansas, up, and accelerate th issue should have been divorced en- side of the state line and Wichita, or raska and northern Kansas. She could main line of the Santa Fe around on a branded with Democracy of the 1893 third of the trade which comes right by her door from Oklahoma and the Terri tory. A greater engineer than the man who laid out Wichita, and greater even than the editor of the EAGLE, whose enthusiasm and intensity as exhibited in built this country and developed convenient points and trade centers This being the case, which has been demonstrated by results after the most intense rivalry, what is the duty of Kansas people? Simply to second the efforts form seem to be in the direction of com-mercial and business interests. He has by Kansas across the line within the borders of Kansas. Moved by Marsh Murdock and seconded by J. K. Hudson that this be done. The motion prevails, and it shall be done. But a little more snap and faith at home, please,

OKLAHOMA OUTLINES.

The school at Blackwell has eighty-two Pawnee has a public reading room already.

The wood sawyers of Hennessey have a T. J. Johnson is the new postmaster at Norman. It is now less than a month until the first hauging in Oklahoma occurs.

No trains are being run on the Perry, Eoid and Pacific. This is authoritative, Tom King's name is Mrs. Mundis. She rides straddle and takes whisky straight, Miss Brennan is the name of the woman at the Euld land office who has recently come into renown.

There is plenty of game in Oklahoma although the territory has been over run with hunters for three years, It is said that at a prayer meeting in Round Pond recently the chairs gave out and beer kegs had to be used, Now that the strip is part of Oklahoma Santa Claus will have so much to do that The Beaver Advocate calls the attention of the people was whisp r in church to the fact that the minister has the floor. If young Cheyenne girls are bringing only six ponies a mother-in-law can probably be purchased for about two colts.

With the Indians the bow and arrow is a thing of the past. They are only made now as playthings for the Indian children. No matter how much game there may be in Oklahoma ma kets it has been noleed that the price of beef and pork is un-

George Puckett of the Blackwell Eagle distributes his papers on horseback and exchanges views with all his readers as he are both softening and are easily that name is located. There is talk of moving the town south a short distance.

any more suffering from destitution kid must bear the blame, or have the honor, of the appearance of this issue. He set every type, corrected, read the proof and assisted in running off the paper.

The Pathelle Story of the Man With a grad satisfact in running off the paper.

Hennessey Clipper: Two men, Bush Johnson and Hugn Dunn, son-in-iaw and son of James Dunn, who lives about eight miles northeast of Hennessey, have been missing since Monday night, September 18. Young Dunn, about 18 years old, made a good claim, and together they went to Enid to file. On Monday night they went to where some of their friends were sleep ing and with whom they were stopping and got their guns, saying that some fel lows were following them and they pro-posed to do some following also. Their friends told them to come back, but they paid no attention and went away and have not been seen or heard of since. Mr. James Dunn has offered a reward of $200 for their recovery. A close search of canyons and streams in the vicinity of Ruid fails to reveal any traces of their whereabouts.

EXCHANGE EPITOMES.

Punch The Bone. There is many a man who's said

They would like to punch his head,
And they said it o'er and o'er,
And they meant it more and more,
For the Dad-

Binged Bore Couldn't learn to shut the door.

Coming Out of the Kinks.

From the El Dorado Republicans. Kansas is a state of surprises. Conditions are such that the state is getting ready to begin to come out of the kinks very soon. We are not always to be in very soon. We are not always to be in a busted financial condition. Better times are coming. A better day is dawning. We will go to and beyond the high water mark reached some years ago. Don't lie down and give up, but get up and hustle and everything will come ont all right,

Against the Soldiers, Always,

From the Lawrence Journal. The Grand Army of the Republic flings defiance in the face of Cleveland, and denies his declaration that there are thousands of neighborhoods in the country that have their well known fraudulent pensioners. It is seldom Cleveland mentions the old soldiers save to revile or slander them, and it looks a though in his last mes-age he has mad his charges too broad to go unchallenged.

INCIDENTS IN A SLEEPER.

The Haughty Maiden at One End, the Poor Blind Man at the Other. It takes all kinds of people to fill a sleeping car. Fortunately so, for otherwise what would relieve the tedium of the steady, monotonous, onward rush of the train day and night?, She was handsomely gowned, and looked as vigorous as if brought up on lawn tennis and rowing matches. Her companion was in appearance a twin. "Ponhtah!" she said to the slim little darky. "I shall want constant atten-tion. I like the window changed frequently. And, Poahtah, you must walk by every few minutes and see if we need anything."

It lacked some minutes for the time for the train to start. At the other end of the car sat a man with his eyes covered. From the likeness, evidently the girl with him was his sister. She held his right hand in both hers, and with his left he clutched her shoulder as if he could not let her go. The terror in his face, and the pity and love and grief in hers, would have made your heart stand still if you had seen the two. Finally she was obliged to leave. but first she spoke a few words to the conductor, and then went to a lady sitting near, and this is what she said to

"Madam, my brother has had an appopleptic stroke, and it has left him suddenly and totally blind. He is going to a specialist in Pennsylvania, and goes alone."

Then, reading the thought of the oman she was speaking to:

"Yes, it must be! It takes every cent we can get tosend him as it is. He must go alone. I must let him take this jour ney alone in his misery. Will you speak to him now and then?

The porter hurried her out the car. The blind man was by no means a weak-minded looking man. On the contrary he had a strong face, as had But as the train started he was sobbing like a baby. He said afterward, when made happy as possible by the attentions of passengers and car employes, that it was perfect desolation that came upon him when he found himself left alone in the new, strange little benefit from his patrimonial world of darkness that had overtaken him so suddenly. Weak and newly blind and spending the last few dol- farms, rich and highly cultivated lars his family could get together. A long, lonely journey before him and

You were in luck that day, slim little darky porter, what with the goodly fee you got in the front of the car, and the treasure in Heaven you laid up through your tender services to the sad man in the rear end.—Cincinnati Commercial

The young man wanted to marry the girl, but he was a reckless chap, spending his salary up close, and the girl's father didn't like to take such a risk. "About how much do you save each year?" he asked the youth, who had approached him on the subject. "I should say about four dollars a year," he laughed, for he was not the kind of a young man who thinks it's a wife's duty to teach a young man how to save. "Um-um-er," calculated the old man, "four dollars a year, four dollars a year. Well, you can have the girl," he went on briskly and in busigirl." ness tones, "but you've got to wait for her until you have saved one hundred thousand dollars. That's the amount I determined her husband shall have. Of course, it will take twenty-five thousand years, and a good deal may happen in that time; but your kind of econ omy, my boy, is bound to get there by and by. Good morning."—Detroit Free Press.

Preparing a Face Bath. The proper way to prepare a face to fill a bowl with hot water, dip in it a flannel cloth, rub the scap on this until there is a thick lather; pass it gently but briskly over the face With both hands wash the soap off sponge with cooler water, dry on a soft towel, afterward using the palms of the hands to arouse circulation. After the face is thoroughly dry take some unguent on the fingers and begin the massage. Almond oil and cocoa butter and quickly absorbed. But no unguent Some people claim that old man Black- must be used constantly or it will pro well is not the guardian of the children duce a light down upon the face. In who own the land on which the fown of the morning the face should be that name is located. There is talk of washed in hot water containing anymoving the town south a short distance. thing the skin may seem to demand.—

Weodward Advocate; Our 13-year-old Ladies Home Journal.

WORTH A QUARTER.

Four or five well-dressed and appar ently well-heeled men stood in a group on the bows of a Windsor ferry boat yesterday, when a man whose appearance denoted hard times approached them and said:

"Gents, I'm used to going without victuals and sleeping on the ground, and I give you my word I really like it. Howsumever, I am obliged to solicit aid for a different object. Gents, allow me to call your attention to me eyethis left one.'

That something had happened to his eye was plain enough. indeed, there was no eye at all, only a socket of one. "What's the matter?" asked one.

"It's just here, sir," replied the man. "About ten years ago a cow hooks me eye out. I suffer and suffer, and by and by I buys me a glass one to preserve me looks. It's not for me to say that I looked even handsomer than before, but should any of you gents want a glass eye, I'll be happy to give you all the pointers I can. way of wearing a glass eye to make ye look like a Jim Dandy, and ye have only to call on me to get full particulars.

"But where is your eve?" "That's what I'm coming to at once. was over here in Detroit the other day, expecting to meet a man who wanted me to go down the country and boss his farm. He didn't show up, howsumever, and while waiting I felt cramps. I goes over to a saloon and says I've got cramps and asks what is good for 'em. "'Whisky, of course,' says the bloom in' bloke behind the bar. "But I've none of the needful."

"Then die!" "Gents, I was suffering that bad that cried out for some one to hit me with a club and end me agony, and send word to me moth . in Boston that I hoped to meet her in a better place.

but no one would do it. "Why didn't you speak to a police man?" queried one of the group. "I was too distracted with the pain I felt that I must have whisky. I had no money, but all of a sudden I thought of me glass eye. "'Here-give me a horn and keep m eye until I can raise ten cents!" I says to the bloke behind the bar. " 'But it's only glass,' says he.

" 'Of course it's only glass. Am I to lay me real eye down on your bloomin bar for the price of three fingers of whisky?

" Till take it for two fingers, and if you don't claim it in four days I'll use t on me dog, who lost his left eye in a fight last winter!' "I gives him the eye, gents, and I gets the whisky and saves me life to be comfort and a consolation to me mother in her old age. Now I wants to get it back. He'll charge me interest. and it will take a quarter to do it." No one made a move to contribute and the man suddenly began wiping his good eye and said: "Gents, if that bloomin' bloke was to keep me glass eye on the shelf among the bottles, I wouldn't feel so bad, but to-day is the fourth day, and by tomorrow his one-eyed fightin' dog will be wearin' me optic, and paradin' around town. Put yourselves in me place, and imagine how you'd feel!"

They chipped in a quarter for him and he bowed and scraped and said: "And I can hear me dear old mother as she weeps for joy! Now I am a man again! Now I can face the world! Ah! gents, may you never need a glass | tree trunks. Doubtless this one found eye to begin with. If you have to get that it was getting uncomfortably hot ne, may you never need to put it up to save your life. If you have to put it slimy, its body was protected from inup, may it never be to a bloomin' bloke who hasn't got any more feelin' than to want it for his bloomin' fightin dawg to wear in the buck yard!" He went away and sat down, and while everybody said he lied, everybody also agreed that it was a story worth a quarter.-Detroit Free Press.

MONOPOLISTIC HALF BREEDS. The Real Owners of the Lands of the Five Nations.

The lands of the five nations are ostensibly held in common, but as a matter of fact the disproportion in holdings is monopolistic to a remarkable degree. The real Indian derives acres. The pale-skinned Jacob has stolen Esau's birthright. There are of from five thousand to twenty five thousand acres in a body: pastures of long succulent grass whose fences a horseman cannot encompass from sun to sun; mines opulent with their stores of coal; but they are controlled by professional and men, or the mixed breeds whose dominant blood is white. It is said that a score of Chickasaw citizens, in whom combined there is hardly enough aboriginal blood to make a full-blood Indian, control nearly ninety per cent. of the arable lands of that nation. A A Cherokee squaw man is said to hold more land than is held by all the fullbloods in the tribe. Under the tribal law there is no limit to the extent of a citizen's holding. He can control and enjoy the usufruct of as much land as he can fence without encrosching upon the improvements of a fellow-citizen. As a consequence the national domain has passed into the possession of the more intelligent and enterprising elements of the tribe, the inter-married citizens and mixed breeds, who constitute probably four-fifths of the population. These landlords, many of whom operate on a scale enough to make the estates of the land barons of the old world seem mere truck patches in comparison, utilize white non-citizen labor in the cultivation and improvement of their vast farms. The Indian agricultural toiler is an anomaly, and negro labor is unommon. As a rule, especially in the opening up of new farms, the tenant not only furnishes the labor, but the improvements also, under an annual retail contract based on a share of the crop.-Rezin W. McAdam, in Harper's Magazine.

His Hunger. Tommy-I've just been playing ball, and I'm awful hungry.

Cook-How hungry is that? Tommy-Well. I'm not hungry enough for bread and butter: I'm just hungry enough for a piece of pin-Harper's Young People

A Luminous Hint. Young hanger-on, at 11 p. m - It looks as if the gas is going out. Young Lady-Perhaps it is trying to set a good example.-Detroit Free

THE GREAT 4 C Remedy Cough, Cold and Croup Cure
IS GUARANTEED! MONEY REFUNDED IF NOT ENTIRELY SATIS

ALL HALLOWS

SPECIFIC

LA GRIPPE

SO CENTS AT ALL DRUGGISTS.

WOODWARD, FAXON & CO.

Kansas City, Ma, Manufecturera

FOR 1893-94. WICHITA, KANSAS.

This Academy, established in 1887, possesses every advantage that parents can desire for the general improvement of their children.

The site is attractive, and, as experience has proved, most advantageous for the promotion of good health. The grounds are next and spacious, affording means for the enjoyment of of good health. The grounds are near and properly and the grounds are near the state of the stat

All Hallows Academy, Wichita, Kansas

SALAMANDERS AND FIRE. Curious Lizards to Which an Old-Time

Superstition Relates. "Nobody knows how the superstition regarding the supposed fire-proof quality of the salamander had its rise," said Dr. Stelneger, the reptilian expert of the Smithsonian institute recently. 'However, I can give what I think is a pretty good guess at it. To explain, I shall have to tell you a story.

"Once upon a time I was camping out with a party, hunting and fishing. We had lighted a big fire, using for fuel several old logs. While we were sitting around watching the progress of some cookery in which we were engaged, a young lady at my side gave a little scream and pointed into the flames. I looked and there was a small lizard crawling right out from among the glowing embers. It walked away, unhurt apparently, through the grass and made its escape. "Now, that salamander had occupied a hole in one of the loss used for fuel. Several species of its kind live in old and crawled out. Being moist and jury by the fire long enough to enable it to escape through the embers. But the sight of the animal deliberately making its appearance from the midst of the fire was certainly very surpris ing. Any ignorant person might easi ly have been led to imagine that the creature must be fire-proof. It seems to me quite probable that the superstition took its rise from just such occurrences. "There are so many species of salamander that a description of them all would fill a book. They are to be found all over the world, except in very cold regions. In a popular sense, the name 'salamander' is applied to all batrachians with tails. That is rather a loose definition. A tadpole is a batrachian with a tail, but it is not s salamander. The great majority of salamanders are small, such as the newts, found in springs. The biggest species in this country are so-called mud-eel, for 'siren.' It has only two feet, just behind the head, and it has external gills, when fully developed, which is an exception to the rule among salamanders.

"The biggest salamander in the world is found in Japan. It attains a length of two feet, and, is related to the 'hellbender.' Most salamanders live on insects, but the very large kinds eat pretty nearly everything as a rule. For instance, the Japanese species is none of the salamanders are considered good to eat, by civilized men at all events. Two years ago I obtained specimen of the only known species of blind salamander. It came from a cave in Missouri. A so-called blind salamander exists in certain caves of Austria, but it is not a true salamander, though it, would come under the popular definition, being a batrachian with a tail.

"One peculiar thing about salamanders is that they are not as large when full grown as when they are partly isd. That seems a funny paradox, does it not? You see, salamanders go through a metamorphosis during their lifetime, as frogs do, though change is not so marked. They have a larval period, as the tadpole is the larva of the frog. On becoming adult they shrink up considerably. During Free Press. the larval period they bare gills like a fish, which usually become rudimen tary later on. An odd exception to this rule is the 'axylotl' of which does not undergo any such meta morphosis and never becomes adult in a scientific sense. In other words, it never reaches what is the final stage with other salamanders, but always re mains a larva.

"Axyolotis of different species are found in various parts of the United States, but they do undergo the change and become adult. However, if you keep one of them in water and prevent it from escaping, it will remain a larva always and will undergo no metamorphosis. In order to change, it has to get on dry land. Having become a land animal, its external gills disappear, being no longer required for breathing in water. The Mexican axylotl never goes on land-at all events, not for a longer time than its gills will remain wet. "In this bottle is one of the biggest tonds in the world. I suppose it weighs nearly four pounds. It comes from Arizona, and is the only specimen of the species that we have ever secured. Isn't it a beauty?"-Washington Star.

A Bignder of Counset. Sunday School Teacher.—To wha was the fate of Sapphira due? Son of Eminent Lawyer-To a violation of the principle of law which for: bids a woman to testify in behalf o her husband.-Washington. 'Ah," said the professor, feeling the boy's head, "persevere, my son; there's room at the top." Then he wondered what the parents were mad about-Cleveland Plain Dealer. -Many of the Hebrew wedding rings vere "tower rings," the set bearing the shape of a small tower in which was inclosed a slip of parchment containing a prayer for the happiness of the "Paradise rings," bearing a representation of the Garden of Eden.

were much in use during the sixteenth century as wedding rings. Shad, bluefish, mackerel and large trout are best cooked in this way. The fish should be cleaned and split down the back, leaving on the head and tail. A double wire broiler is best, as the fish can be turned without breaking. Rub the broiler well with suct before putting the fish in. The flesh side should be first exposed to the fire, and then the skin side; great care must be taken not to burn the skin. fish is done, separate it carefully from the broiler and place on a hot platter. sprinkle with salt and pepper, spread with butter and stand it in the oven till the butter is melted. A fish weigh ing four poends will require about half an hour to cook .- Toledo Blade. The Cruel Wretch. Wife (severely)-John, you have wanted a great deal of money in your Husband (meekly |-- I know it, ma

"Well, don't you regret it?" There is a certain five-dollar bill I gave the minister I shall never cease to regret, my love."-Texas Siftings.

Ender Surveillance. "I see Mrs. Skinflint has had ber late husband's miniature painted and wears.

it under her chin." "No? When he was alive she always bent him under her thumb "- Detrois Awarded Highest Honors World's Fair. DRPRICE'S Geall Baking Powder.

Used in Millions of Homes-40 Years the Standard.